Equine Breeding Internship at First Flight Farm in Boerne, TX

The internship would be a live-in position with accommodations provided and a small stipend for expenses.

We do all of our own ultrasounds and inseminations of our farm owned mares here on the farm, but we also take in outside mares for breeding and foaling, so we work very closely a Board Certified Repro specialist vet who handles the ultrasounds for the client mares.

On average, we foal out 8-10 mares per season. This year we will have 8 of our own mares to foal out, plus several client mares already booked to come for foaling.

Duties would include foal watch, assisting staff with care and monitoring of the mares and foals and record keeping. We also do treatments of client mares for uterine infections or administering P&E protocols, so those are things our intern will assist with.

This is an excellent opportunity for someone needing to fulfill their internship requirement at a farm that will provide lots of hands-on experience with breeding using fresh and frozen semen as well as with foaling out mares and working with young horses under the guidance of highly experienced staff.
